Printer toner

Twenty years ago if Sinn Fein had been hoarding tonnes and tonnes of printer cartridges, you'd have thought that they were up to mischief. Maybe printing their own currency. But now Sinn Fein is giving the taxpayer a good spanking with its manic use of printer cartridges. Sinn Fein TD Aengus O Snodaigh's €50,000 bill for cartridges would pay the weekly dole for 500 unemployed 18-year-olds. Looks like the Shinnars in the Dail have gone native. For a Lexmark 70 black cartridge you'll get the best deals with a generic Tesco version, or go to specialist providers for reconditioned cartridges. But if it's the label you're after, you'll pay for it.
